YOU DON'T KNOW

what a comfort it is to have ready at hand a remedy that never fails to relieve Constipation, and that, without pain or discomfort, and almost immediately cures headaches, and dispels every symptom of Dyspepsia. Such a remedy is found in Simmons Liver Regulator—not a sweetened compound to nauseate, or an intoxicating beverage to cultivate an alcoholic appetite, but a medicine pleasant to the taste, and perfectly harmless when given to the smallest child. S. L. R. never disappoints. It possesses the virtues and perfections of a reliable remedy of the kind endorsed by eminent physicians.

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to those you receive annually in reference to your valuable medicine. I consider Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine on the market. I have prescribed it with excellent results."
—W. F. PARK, M. D., Tracy City, Tenn.

She did not even.
A certain broker had been teasing his wife about some of her housekeeping arithmetic, and yesterday she got her revenge.

"What time is it?" he asked her after lunch. She took out her purse and held up a half crown without a word. He stared, scratched his head and finally gave it up.

"Anybody who is up in figures," she remarked sweetly, "would at once have understood that I meant half past 2."—London Tit-Bits.

The Passion Flower.
The passion flower derives its name from an idea that all the instruments of Christ's passion are represented—viz., the five wounds, the column or pillar of scourging, besides the three nails, the crown of thorns, etc. Most of the passion flowers are natives of the hottest parts of America.—London Tit-Bits.

Adding insult to injury.
"Talk about adding insult to injury," said Lavrum, as with the aid of a heavy cane he hobbled to his favorite seat in the Rounders' club the other afternoon. "Something happened to me last night that capped the climax in that direction so far as my experience goes. I dined one evening with some friends of mine from out of town last evening. They were old college chums, you know, and as we had not met for years we lingered long over the table, and the loving cup was passed steadily around until my friends had to leave for a midnight train. It was a very hot night. I was very much befuddled, and, as is my custom on such rare occasions, I turned my feet Turkish bathward. I went down into the hot room. A strong desire came upon me to jump into the big cold plunge there without waiting for the usual scrubbing by the attendant.

"It has been my habit to forego the use of the stairs leading down into the plunge, and to simply get up on the marble railing and fall off backward into the cooling waters. So up on the marble railing I stepped and threw myself off. There was not a solitary drop of water in that plunge. The attendants had emptied it for the purpose of cleaning it. Down I went full six feet, and landed squarely on my back on the marble bottom. No, I did not break my back and fracture my skull, though it is a wonder that I did not.

"So much for the injury. Now let me tell you about the insult." As I lay there on my back partially stunned an attendant came, and shaking me roughly by the shoulder said, 'Say, if you do that again you will be put out!' If I did it again I would be put out! Wonder if I thought I did it for fun?—New York Times.

Wil's store. The new firm solicits a share of the public patronage and hope to merit a continuance of the same.

Elko Republicans have at least the merit of being consistent. They want free coinage, denounce Harrison for his hostile attitude to silver and pledge themselves to support the electors of the Silver party. They endorse the candidacy of Senator Stewart, whom the pewter-plated Harrison men are moving heaven and earth to defeat, and also of Francis G. Newlands, the Silver party candidate for Congress.

BARTINE ON THE GRIDIRON.

A Scathing Review of His Reno Speech and His Party.

To Hon. H. F. Bartine:—It was my privilege to listen to your speech at the Opera House in Reno, Monday evening, and I gladly availed myself of the opportunity of hearing one so renowned as yourself, expatiate upon questions of great National importance and expected you to tell your hearers why you still carry Republican colors and why the people should honor you above all others by electing you to the best office in the gift of the State. Before going to hear you I asked myself what reasons could this man give why the people should elect any man to office who still claims to be a Republican? That you would lend the past of the G. O. P. mention, in passing, the freeing of the negro, praise the McKinley bill, and, as in duty bound, modestly speak of your own praiseworthy efforts to fully renegeize silver, just but that Mr. Stewart was not nearly so worthy of the high honor as yourself, all of which you did, and, do you know, I thought you might give the bloody shirt just one little wave over the bloody chasm which you did not. Your reference to those poor patriots, those great and God-like men, Sumner, Greeley, Phillips and Beecher, as the founders of the great Republican party was peculiarly infelicitous. That they were mainly instrumental in forming the Republican party I admit, but why did you not tell your hearers of the after history of each of these great men? Let me do it for you. Sumner, in 1868, opposed the Administration on the Jamaica question, and thereafter was repudiated by the Republican party and press. Horace Greeley ran for President on the Democratic ticket in 1872. On the assassination of Garfield, Henry Ward Beecher said "The Republican party is now a band of Roman soldiers, sitting on the ground throwing dice, to see who shall have a share of the Savior's garments. Liberty was imperiled for the sake of party plunder." Wendell Phillips said of your party: "Every lover of liberty should therefore toll and pray for its destruction."

Do not again claim those men as Republicans of the present day. That they were such when it was a party with principles, true, but when it became an organized band of robbers, whose chiefs traded in the liberties of their country and blood of their fellow men for gold for themselves, they then heaped upon it their curses and maledictions, denounced and left it, and what has your party since done to recall either of them, were they still living, to his former allegiance? Can you tell? I cannot. You spoke of Republican principles and Democratic principles. I challenge you to show a single principle that pervades and is a part of either party and I charge in the language of the immortal Beecher that the leaders of both the old parties are nothing now but "a band of Roman soldiers sitting on the ground, throwing dice to see who shall have a share of the Savior's garments."

To name all the crimes of the Republican party (cannot in a column newspaper article, and suffice it to say, that during a rule of twenty-five years, your party has degraded the people of our country from a state of almost perfect freedom to a state of serfitude and slavery more degrading and insupportable than was even African slavery. They have polluted the fountain of justice and buy their decisions; they have corrupted the people by buying their votes with their accursed gold, till the elective franchise is lost in our State and our people are now on the very outmost verge of anarchy as is evidenced by the acts of two or three men at the State Capitol who demand, whether justly or unjustly, they neither know nor care, that an additional tax of twenty-five per cent, shall be placed upon the property of every man in our country. What law can be more arbitrary or unjust? And still there is no escaping its workings except by revolution. Last year the increase was fifteen per cent. This year it is twenty-five per cent. What will be next year God only knows, but this much is certain; continue the Republican party in power but a few years longer and every holder of a small farm in the United States will be driven from his possessions and his family turned into the streets beggars and outcasts.

Men! Men! Cannot you understand that the present Republican party is in no way allied to the Republican party of 1856? That party was a party of the people and served their interests. The present is a party of the skylocks of this country and Europe and will have they, and are they serving their masters; the present Republican party is the party that drove Charles Sumner from its ranks, forced Horace Greeley to ally himself with the Democrats, his lifelong and almost mortal enemies, to whose honor he would sooner entrust the welfare of his country than the ravening wolves who then held control of the party which he had been so mainly instrumental in forming. It is the same party that Henry Ward Beecher likened to a band of thieves and just read this most damning imprecation to the great Phillips against it. "I distrust and despise the Republicans as hypocrites and time-servers, as double-dealers, as soulless carrion masquerading in the grave clothes of their honored predecessors. They have no right to seek their candidates among high-minded and honorable men. Let them choose a fitting leader from among the Tewksbury marshes, the peddlers of the poor man's bones."

No man is a traitor to the old Republican party who now leaves it, and I aver that no man can vote for the present head of the ticket and not commit a crime against his country, his neighbor and his posterity. If this is so, why not vote for any man whose candidacy will tend to perpetuate this party in power?

Forgive this digression, I have a few words more to say to you. In your speech you spoke very slightly of the People's party and called us We-verites. With the exception of one small plank, there is not one word, sentence or utterance in their platform the justice and righteousness of which I cannot fully maintain and prove even against so distinguished and learned a gentleman as yourself. For years I have battled for those principles, not one of which I have not discussed.

While I am no Weaverite, nor theite to theism of any man, I thank the Almighty God that I can now strike another blow for the freedom of my country, which has been so easily imperilled through the Administration of your party, by casting my vote for Weaver and Field. I would as soon it were Field and Weaver or that you yourself were at the head of my ticket were you an exponent of the principles I profess. I have not with intent been offensive, and if in my hatred to your party, which to me is a seething, withering, blighting, loathsome mass of putridity, rotten in every joint, I have said one word that has given you or the men who stand with you, personal offense I trust you will attribute it solely to ignorance. ## THE SILVER CANDIDATE

Newlands' Triumph March Through Eastern Nevada.

The Silver State says of the Silver candidate for Congress: Hon. Francis G. Newlands, the Silver candidate for Congress and the silver-tongued orator, arrived yesterday on the west-bound train. He has been canvassing for the Silver cause, and goes to-day to stir up the grangers and miners of Paradise, Through Eastern Nevada he met with the most enthusiastic and hearty receptions. The people everywhere flocked to hear this distinguished advocate of the silver cause. His pleasant manner, logical arguments for the white metal as money, and historical narratives of the anti-silver legislation in Europe and America riveted the attention of his audience, and when he seemed about to close his eloquent and instructive address of an hour and a half or two hours' duration he met with shouts of "go on; go on."

His vote will be practically unanimous in Eastern Nevada. The people see in him a champion of silver who will be heard and felt in the halls of Congress, and whose efforts in the House will be fruitful of great results. The great interest and the great work done by him as a private citizen in and over since the Silver Convention held in St. Louis points him out as not only being in the foremost rank of statesmen, but a real organizer of men and unification of the silver sentiment of the country.

Better Than a Savings Bank.

If you have faith in the future prosperity of the city of Reno, Nevada, invest in well located town lots and you will surely double your money in the next few years. If you cannot buy a lot yourself you can take stock in the Reno Real Estate and Investment Co., and participate in the investments that this corporation will make. The company propose to purchase centrally located property and erect suitable buildings thereon, obtaining immediate revenue from rents and receiving all benefits from increase in values.

Lectures at the University.

It is an established custom at the State University that on each Friday at 2:30 p. m. some one of the Professors of the institution gives a general lecture to the faculty, to the students and to such others as may care to attend. Citizens and strangers are always welcome and their presence is solicited. To-day Professor Miller will occupy the hour with a lecture on "Cholera, Its Cause and Prevention." It is not generally known that these exercises are public, so we take pleasure in announcing that information on such timely and vital subjects may be had for the taking. The lecture will be illustrated by microscopic preparations, drawing and other illustrative material.

E. G. Winnie, nominated at the Carson Republican primaries for Assemblyman and then put off the ticket for refusing to support Bartine, has secured the necessary 3 per cent. and will run independent for the position. Hope he may be elected.

While I am no Weaverite, nor theite to theism of any man, I thank the Almighty God that I can now strike another blow for the freedom of my country, which has been so easily imperilled through the Administration of your party, by casting my vote for Weaver and Field. I would as soon it were Field and Weaver or that you yourself were at the head of my ticket were you an exponent of the principles I profess. I have not with intent been offensive, and if in my hatred to your party, which to me is a seething, withering, blighting, loathsome mass of putridity, rotten in every joint, I have said one word that has given you or the men who stand with you, personal offense I trust you will attribute it solely to ignorance. H. H. Beck.

Reno, October 13, 1892.

Do not again claim those men as Republicans of the present day. That they were such when it was a party with principles, true, but when it became an organized band of robbers, whose chiefs traded in the liberties of their country and blood of their fellow men for gold for themselves, they then heaped upon it their curses and maledictions, denounced and left it, and what has your party since done to recall either of them, were they still living, to his former allegiance? Can you tell? I cannot. You spoke of Republican principles and Democratic principles. I challenge you to show a single principle that pervades and is a part of either party and I charge in the language of the immortal Beecher that the leaders of both the old parties are nothing now but "a band of Roman soldiers sitting on the ground, throwing dice to see who shall have a share of the Savior's garments."

To name all the crimes of the Republican party (cannot in a column newspaper article, and suffice it to say, that during a rule of twenty-five years, your party has degraded the people of our country from a state of almost perfect freedom to a state of serfitude and slavery more degrading and insupportable than was even African slavery. They have polluted the fountain of justice and buy their decisions; they have corrupted the people by buying their votes with their accursed gold, till the elective franchise is lost in our State and our people are now on the very outmost verge of anarchy as is evidenced by the acts of two or three men at the State Capitol who demand, whether justly or unjustly, they neither know nor care, that an additional tax of twenty-five per cent, shall be placed upon the property of every man in our country. What law can be more arbitrary or unjust? And still there is no escaping its workings except by revolution. Last year the increase was fifteen per cent. This year it is twenty-five per cent. What will be next year God only knows, but this much is certain; continue the Republican party in power but a few years longer and every holder of a small farm in the United States will be driven from his possessions and his family turned into the streets beggars and outcasts.

Men! Men! Cannot you understand that the present Republican party is in no way allied to the Republican party of 1856? That party was a party of the people and served their interests. The present is a party of the skylocks of this country and Europe and will have they, and are they serving their masters; the present Republican party is the party that drove Charles Sumner from its ranks, forced Horace Greeley to ally himself with the Democrats, his lifelong and almost mortal enemies, to whose honor he would sooner entrust the welfare of his country than the ravening wolves who then held control of the party which he had been so mainly instrumental in forming. It is the same party that Henry Ward Beecher likened to a band of thieves and just read this most damning imprecation to the great Phillips against it. "I distrust and despise the Republicans as hypocrites and time-servers, as double-dealers, as soulless carrion masquerading in the grave clothes of their honored predecessors. They have no right to seek their candidates among high-minded and honorable men. Let them choose a fitting leader from among the Tewksbury marshes, the peddlers of the poor man's bones."

No man is a traitor to the old Republican party who now leaves it, and I aver that no man can vote for the present head of the ticket and not commit a crime against his country, his neighbor and his posterity. If this is so, why not vote for any man whose candidacy will tend to perpetuate this party in power?

Forgive this digression, I have a few words more to say to you. In your speech you spoke very slightly of the People's party and called us We-verites. With the exception of one small plank, there is not one word, sentence or utterance in their platform the justice and righteousness of which I cannot fully maintain and prove even against so distinguished and learned a gentleman as yourself. For years I have battled for those principles, not one of which I have not discussed.

While I am no Weaverite, nor theite to theism of any man, I thank the Almighty God that I can now strike another blow for the freedom of my country, which has been so easily imperilled through the Administration of your party, by casting my vote for Weaver and Field. ## AND BENJAMIN SEGAT RUSSELL.

Wreath round my head a gloria,
Put in my hand the bun;
I've sailed with Queen Victoria,
I am the President's son
My pull at home, my pull abroad,
Are big beyond comparison;
And as for Blaine and Platt, good Lord,
They're boys to Russell Harrison.

Talk not of the authority
Of the Scotts and the McKees;
By an inveterate majority
I beat them, if you please.
I give to pale and college chums
Good evidence material,
That is a test office easiest comes
To friends of the Prince Imperial.

Let envious, mephitical
Foes at me raise and cuss;
Safe is my strength political,
There are no flies on Russel.
The stars and arrows shield me
Thrown at me leaves a scar,
I trust the philoprogenitive
Instincts of my race.

Against my cheek's strong garison
All idle comes attack;
I'm Harrison of Harrison,
By an inveterate majority
The press, I score the gab in it;
What's all this talk to me?
I'm stronger than the Cabinet,
And even Baby McKee.

When ripe and red the apple is,
I pluck it from the tree;
Nimrod of Indianapolis,
My father's oldest Ne;
Powerless in party muttering
I lay down on to smother;
Or change the fact I'm uttering;
I am the White House boy!

A SCENE AT THE DEPOT.

An Angry Husband Takes His Children from a Runaway Wife.

Those who happened to be at the depot last night shortly before the west-bound train arrived were somewhat surprised to see a young man, apparently about twenty years of age, walk into the ladies' waiting room and up to a lady sitting on one of the benches with a child in her arms and one on the seat besides her, and without ceremony take the child on the seat and walk to the door with it, where it was handed to a gentleman apparently in waiting. This much done the young man again returned to the lady and took the second child, the lady offering some slight resistance, but making no outcry. The two men then walked off up Commercial Row with the children, leaving the lady in tears.

Upon investigation it was learned that the couple were Mr. and Mrs. George Bates of Verdi, and

He Liked Fishing.
In the performance of my pleasant duties as editor I am called upon to greet members of the craft from every part of the world where angling is followed as a pastime. I have yet to meet one who failed to respond to my eager search for facts relative to the fish in their home waters with less eagerness and enthusiasm than evinced by myself. I have talked and queried with the polished and cultivated anglers of the brooks and the books, and I have found them, each and all, to be possessed of valuable information as to the byways if not the highways of the art recreative.

I have been taught by the clothehopper of the streams; I have gained invaluable points from the bushwhacking boy who snatches 'em out; the cowboy fisher of the gulch holes, the "wum" baiters of the Mississippi shiners, the Canadian half breeds of the Laurentian streams and the malara saturated dweller "away down on the Suwanne river" have all dropped angling pearls along my pathway, and last, not least, have I gathered consolation and enthusiasm from an ingenuous remark made by an old but illustrious angling pal of mine. "Well," said he, "tell old Johnson for me that, rather than not go a-fishing at all, I'm willing to be the worm."

Could self abnegation go further in sacrifice or enthusiasm?—American Angler.

When it was proposed to build the Central Pacific railroad, a civil engineer of twenty-five years' experience reported that the road could not be completed in twenty years with all the money of the Bank of England to back the enterprise. But it was built and completed in seven years before the expiration of the time fixed by congress.

A ray of light which would travel around the earth in about one-eighth of a second takes more than four hours to come from Neptune. For Alpha Centauri, the nearest fixed star, light takes the journey in five and a half years.

The parish church of Hazeleigh, near Maldon, Essex, retains that pegs around the nave and an hourglass stands near the pulpit.

Let every enfeebled woman know this: There is a medicine that'll cure her, and the proof's positive! Here's the proof—if it doesn't do you good within reasonable time, report the fact to its makers and get your money back without a word—but you won't do it!

The remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—and it has proved itself the right remedy in nearly every case of female weakness. It is not a misale, it won't cure every thing—but it has done more to build up tired, enfeebled and broken-down women than any other medicine known.

Where's the woman who's not ready for it? All that we've do is to get the news to her. The medicine will do the rest. Wanted—Women. First to know it. Second to use it. Third to be cured by it. The one comes to the other.

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Little Regulators. Only 25 cents a trial.

"August Flower"
Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1122 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says: "My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it."
